Step 1 Apply for your student visa

F-1 or J1 Student Visas

F-1 or J1 Student visas are for individuals who intend to study in the United States. With an F-1 or J1 visa, a spouse and unmarried children under the age of 21 may accompany the international student to the U.S. Generally, these dependents may not be employed in the U.S. but may attend school as part-time students.

Visa Application Process

In your admission packet, you will find your I-20 Form, admission letter and SEVIS receipt. Now that you have these forms, you can apply for a visa at the United States Embassy or Consulate closest to your place of residence. To find the Embassy closest to you, visit: www.usembassy.gov.

Visa Interviews

To apply for an F-1 or J1 Student Visa, you will need the following:

- Form I-20 (included in this packet)
- SEVIS I-901 Receipt (<https://www.fmjfee.com/i901fee/index.html#>)
- Online Nonimmigrant Visa Electronic Application (http://travel.state.gov/visa/forms/forms_4230.html)
- A passport (valid for at least six months)
- One (1) 2x2 photograph
- MRV fee receipt to show payment of the visa application fee
- UNI CIEP Admission Letter

If possible, it may be a good idea to bring the following items to your interview:

- Transcripts and diplomas
- Scores from standardized tests such as TOEFL, SAT, GRE
- Financial evidence that shows you, or the individuals sponsoring you, have sufficient funds to cover your expenses

During your visa interview, be prepared to answer questions regarding:

- Your major field or purpose of studying
- Your decision to attend UNI CIEP
- Financial plans for paying for your studies
- Your intent to return to your home country after completion of your studies

Immigration Procedures

When you arrive at the airport, show the immigration official your UNI I-20 Form and your passport. The immigration official should stamp your I-20 form and passport and give you a stamped or electronic I-94 Departure Record.

Retaining your F-1 Status

To retain F-1 visa status, a student must attend a full course of study (20 hours per week) in the Culture and Intensive English Program. Students must complete four consecutive CIEP sessions before being allowed to take time off from studying. Failure to be enrolled for a full course of study is considered a violation of the F-1 student status and places the student in a deportable situation.

Employment Opportunities are limited for international students. F-1 students are only allowed to work under specific circumstances. On-campus employment is permitted up to 20 hours per week. However, off-campus employment is limited to internship or other work-study programs that may be required for a specific degree.

Visa Denial Information

If consular officials find you ineligible for a visa:

- Collect all your submitted documentation from the embassy. Consular officials must also give you a written reason for denial.
- If you wish to apply for another session, contact the CIEP Office to request deferring your admission to a later session
- Once you receive your new I-20 form, you may re-apply for your visa.
